First Crush

Chris Butcher

1995 – Walla Walla, Washington

While in the third grade, maintained eye contact, traded notes and confidences with an otherwise lukewarm love interest. Wrote essay on The Old Man and The Sea in order to impress love interest with evidence of intellectual merit. Made effort to impress father of crush in the interest of gaining favor with son. Ongoing interest in the name “Chris” established, as was the pursuer-and-not-pursued dynamic. Completed assignment with attention to detail and with a greater understanding of the influence of family and intellectual prowess on love relations.

First Long Distance Relationship

Chris Montey

1994-2003 – North West, Various

Learned basic archival skills by preserving ongoing correspondence as well as the Snickers and peanut wrappers that marked the occasion of our meeting. Nine years of correspondence of varying frequency and quality followed, often interrupted by the emergence of a boyfriend (on my part) or girlfriend (on his part). Established long-term pattern of sexless relationships held together by correspondence and pure hope. One strenuous make out session of excellent fraughtness (1996).

First Kiss

Jamie Bell

1999 – Portland, Oregon

Performed admirably in the back of Julie Butcher’s mother’s car on the return from a rehearsal for Fiddler on the Roof. Responsibilities included evading Julie Butcher’s mother’s gaze in the rearview mirror, keeping quiet while secretly thrilled.

First Love/ First Sex

M. Zachary Hiener

2000 – Present – Cavalry, Oregon

2001 Portland, Oregon

Smoked cloves cigarettes, played on swing sets late at night, made mix tapes, sat together in the cafeteria. Learned the power of a red dress worn at the right moment, poems as come-hithers, and located the center of want. After driving home in the rain from the Otis Redding concert in Cavalry, Oregon had sex in the basement of my father and stepmother’s home while both were upstairs sleeping. Provided necessary protection, handled lighting, supplied linens and snuck up stairs, balancing weight on outside of steps after the act.

First Lesbian Kiss

Miranda Davis

2002 – Portland, Oregon

Assisted best friend with specific advice on the male species, listened to Joni Mitchell’s Blue album, smoked clove cigarettes, reviewed the state of bedroom, completely defrocked and danced around in the moonlight. First kiss and make out session followed. Follow-up conversations revealed the friendship to be intact, and, in fact, enhanced by the closeness of this singular event. Gained understanding of the influence of music in romance and first hand knowledge of the influence of well-timed Joni Mitchell.
